Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Muang

Prap Ho Monument

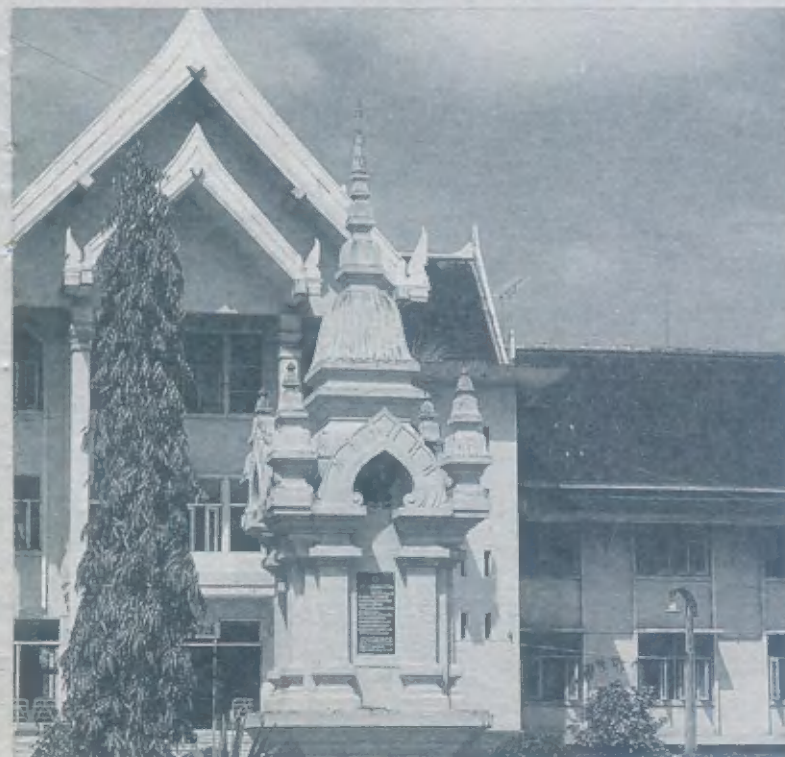

This monument was built to honor the dead who crushed the Chinese Ho rebellion of 1886. The monument, built on the order of Prince Prachak Silpakhorn, was originally behind Nong Khai Police Station but was moved in 1949 to its present location at the intersection of roads entering Nong Khai. The monument has inscriptions in Thai, Chinese, Lao, and English. The province holds a celebration at the monument every March 5.

Luang Pho Phra Sai

This gold Buddha image is highly revered by the Nong Khai people and dates back to the ancient Lan Chang Empire centuries ago. It is believed the image is one of 3 images commissioned to be molded by the 3 daughters of the king of Lan Chang. In 1778, the images were moved to Vientiane and during the reign of King Rama III they were brought to Thailand, but one sank in a storm. The remaining images were placed in Wat Pho Chai and Wat Ho Klong. Wat Pho Chai is the temple where Luang Pho Phra Sai is housed. There is a celebration every seventh lunar month at the temple.

Prap Ho Monument

Phra That Bang Phuan

A very old pagoda, Phra That Bang Phuan houses the holy relics of Lord Buddha. The pagoda received additions in the reign of King Chai Chettha but later crumbled because of rain. The Fine Arts Department made complete restoration in 1970. A fun-filled festival is held every January. The pagoda is 12 km. from Km. 10 on Highway No. 211.

Phra That Nong Khai

From available records, the pagoda collapsed into the Mekong in 1847 and over the years drifted to the center of the river where it can be seen today.

Chom Mani Beach

The beach is a part of the Mekong and is most beautiful in April when the water level recedes. It is a favorite spot for tourists.

Friendship Bridge (Thai-Lao)

This is the first international bridge spanning the Mekong. The bridge links Nong Khai with Vientiane and was built jointly by the governments of Australia, Thailand and Laos. The bridge was opened on April 8, 1994.

Sala Kaeo Ku and Ban Na Thong

A unique place with numerous sculptures according to the belief of a sect of Buddhism. Sala Kaeo Ku is about 3 km. from Nong Khai on the Nong Khai-Phon Phisai Road.

Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Tha Bo Luang Pho Phra Chao Ong Tu

Luang Pho Phra Chao Ong Tu is the largest gold Buddha image of Nong Khai. The image is at Wat Nam Mong. No clear record exists of when the image was molded but a stone inscription states the image was built in 1562 by King Chai Chettha. The king and 7 noblemen close to him employed 500 workers to mold the image by using a mixture of gold, brass and silver. Legend has it that the god Indra and 108 angels had to help finish it, consuming 7 years and 7 months at a cost of 8.4 million baht. It is said a person's sadness will disappear with a look at the image.

Wat Nam Mong can be reached by taking Highway No. 211 to Km. 31 and turning left for 2.2 km. past Tha Bo Market.

Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Pak Khat

Wat Sawang Arom

The temple is at Km. 90 of Highway No. 212. Situated at the foot of a mountain, the temple has a rock formations, cliffs, stone terraces, and shady trees all around. A chapel houses a sacred Buddha image. The chapel provides a commanding view of surrounding areas.

Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Si Chiang Mai

Wat Hin Mak Peng

Wat Hin Mak Peng is a meditation center for monks, nuns and pilgrims. This tranquil sanctuary is adjacent to the Mekong and is ideal for relaxation. The sanctuary is at Km. 83 of Highway No. 2186, 30 km. from Amphoe Si Chiang Mai.

Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Sangkhom

Than Thong Waterfall

Located in Ban Pha Tang, the waterfall can be reached by taking Highway No. 221 and Highway No. 2186 to Km. 74. Than Thong Waterfall drops from a 30 metre-high cliff. The pool below is

Tourist Attractions in Amphoe Bung Kan

Phu Thok

Phu Thok — meaning lonely mountain in northeastern Thai — actually comprises 2 mountains, Phu Thok Yai and Phu Thok Noi. The mountain is now the site of a meditation center. The boundaries of the center is:

North — Phu Thok Yai.

South — Ban Na Duang—Ban Si Wilai Road.

East — Bung Kan—Pho Mak Khaeng Road.

West — Ban Na Kham Khaen and Ban Na Sabaeng.

A stairway system completed in 1974 takes visitors up the 7 levels of the center, each with a different view and atmosphere. The main levels are levels 4 (residence of nuns) and 5 (houses and grave of Achan Chuan, the monk who founded the center). Between these two levels are several caves worth exploring. The top level (level 7) is a shady forest.

A mini-bus can be hired from Amphoe Bung Kan to Phu Thok or visitors with cars can drive on Highway No. 212 from Bung Kan to Phu Thok, a total of 46 km.

Phu Wua Wildlife Sanctuary

Phu Wua Wildlife Sanctuary has an area of 186.5 square km. It is in Amphoe Bung Kan and Amphoe Seka. The sanctuary is at the northeasternmost corner of the Northeast, about 2 km. from the border. The average elevation is 150–300 metres. The soil is sandy in some parts, laterite and clay in others. There are both wet and dry jungles in the area.

Wildlife here includes elephants, tigers, leopards, bears, pheasants, monkeys, and gibbons. The animals are in a thick jungle area of only 40 square km., thus hindering reproduction.

Places of interest are:

1. Fun Cave – To the north of the sanctuary, the cave offers a cool atmosphere and the refreshing Tham Fun Waterfall. There are countless deer and wild rabbits in the area.

2. Eastern side of the sanctuary – Water-eroded rock formations of peculiar shapes are the stars here. The high elevation of 330 metres gives guests a good look of nearby mountains and even those in Laos.

3. Chanaen Waterfall – A well-known waterfall of the province, Chanaen Waterfall can be reached via a natural stone bridge set amidst huge boulders. A small lake, Bung Chanaen, has a large trees along the banks and is a possible refuge of some crocodiles. The waterfall itself is a large one falling down from many rocks. The fine sand around the fall makes the site ideal for camping.

4. Chan Pha Cave – a small cave 500 metres from the stone bridge.

5. Sa-am Waterfall – A beautiful waterfall with rock ridges and walls.

To get to the sanctuary, Transport Co. buses No. 4193 runs every hour from Nong Khai and No. 244 every 45 minutes from Udon Thani.

There are 2 main trekking routes in the sanctuary; the Bung Kan–Hua Phu route (past the sanctuary headquarters) is 36.4 km. long, the Bung Kan–Chanaen Waterfall route is 76.1 km. long.
